CITYWIDE RECORDS RETENTION SCHEDULE – PREFACE
Resolution 68,661-N.S. Effective: November 13, 2018

The Records Retention Schedule is a key element for an effective records management program. The Records Retention Schedule adopted as Resolution 68,661-N.S. rescinds and replaces all prior Records Retention Schedules. The 2018 revision of the records retention schedule is based upon a survey of City departments and contains a listing of all records produced or maintained by the City. The Retention Schedule assists the City by documenting which records require office or temporary storage, which records have historic or research value, and which records should be destroyed because they no longer have administrative, operational, fiscal, or legal value. Other benefits of a Records Retention Schedule are listed below:

- Ensures that records will not be destroyed prematurely;
- Allows records that are no longer useful to be destroyed legally;
- Helps reduce space and equipment necessary for filing records;
- Determines when records may be transferred to storage;
- Organizes and groups related documents by records series;
- Provides information helpful in developing a vital records protection plan.

The Office of the City Attorney provided legal review of each department schedule and all statutory citations. In several instances, the length of retention of a record is extended by the addition of a “department policy” citation wherever the department/division’s actual experience and practice would recommend longer retention.

The General Retention Schedule establishes retention authority for records common to all departments.

If you have any questions relating to records management or the records retention schedule, please contact the City Clerk Department at 981-6900.

RESOLUTION NO. 68,661-N.S.

I. Program Authority

The Records Management Program for the City of Berkeley is based on state and federal laws and agency guidelines governing public records.

II. Mission

The City of Berkeley Records Management Program exists to protect the City's information assets and manage them more efficiently by employing systematic methods for creation, maintenance, disposition, and retrieval of official City records. Through application of sound records management practices, the program ensures the availability of records and information when needed by City staff and members of the public. These practices also ensure the elimination of unnecessary, redundant records, the preservation of records of continuing value for historical, legal and administrative research, and the destruction of obsolete records in accordance with established guidelines once they reach their approved disposition date.

By controlling the life cycle of records from creation to final disposition, the City will better manage its information assets, facilitate efficient access to information when needed, provide documentation of compliance to state and federal courts and agencies, and preserve a valuable history of the organization. The City Clerk Department coordinates the Records Management Program in cooperation with designated department liaisons. The City Clerk is also responsible for preserving the City's legislative history.

III. Program Objectives

A. What are "records"

Records include, but are not limited to, letters, papers, maps, exhibits, magnetic tapes, compact-disks, microfilm, photographic film and prints, audio and video recordings, and any other information, regardless of its physical form or characteristics, that is received, created or used by a City department or official in the normal course of City business.

B. Records Retention Schedule

The Records Retention Schedule provides the foundation for the Records Management Program and plays a pivotal role in its implementation. The City Clerk maintains retention schedules for each department of the City and updates these schedules on a periodic basis. These department schedules establish mandatory minimum retention periods for all City records. If a federal or state law, court ruling, or regulation establishes the retention period for a record, a citation to the relevant provision is given; if no citation is present, authority for the retention period is based on departmental, legal, and management recommendations. No department, division, board, or commission may dispose of an official City record prior to the expiration of its approved retention period.

Actual disposal of such records by a City office is subject to the policies and procedures outlined in the records management manual.

1. General Records Retention Schedule

The general records retention schedule sets mandatory minimum retention periods for those record series that are common to all departments and divisions.

The retention period applies to a record regardless of the medium in which it is maintained. Some records listed in the Retention Schedule are maintained electronically. To ensure access to these records in the future, data used to create the records must be retained, along with all hardware and software necessary to access that data, for the full retention period assigned to the records. The only exception to this rule is where copies of the data are retained in paper or on microfilm and designated as the “record copy” for retention purposes. The electronic version then becomes a convenience copy and may be disposed of when no longer needed.

2. Department Retention Schedules

The department retention schedules cover specific records maintained relative to the functions performed by that department. The schedules set the mandatory minimum retention periods for the record copy of these documents. Convenience copies of these records found in other departments have administrative value only, and should not be kept longer than the official record copy maintained by the designated department of record.

3. Disposition Dates

Unless otherwise stated, the retention period for a record is in calendar years from the date of its creation. The retention period applies to the official record as distinct from convenience or working copies created for informational purposes. Where several copies are maintained, the office shown as the department of record shall retain the official record. Duplicate or convenience copies are kept only as long as administratively valuable and should not be kept longer than the official record.

If a record described in a schedule is maintained in a bound volume of a type in which pages are not easily removed, the retention period, unless otherwise stated, is calculated based on the date of last entry.

If two or more records listed in this schedule are maintained together by a department and are not severable, the combined record must be retained for the length of time of the component with the longest retention period.

4. Retention Event Codes

Event codes are used to clarify retention periods where disposition is based on a controlling event rather than a period of time. For example, the final disposition date of an employee's personnel file is determined by their individual termination or retirement date. These types of retention periods are noted on the retention schedules by an asterisk (*) and referred to in a note in the Records Series description field that explains how to determine the disposition date. Certain records listed in the schedules may be assigned the retention period of AV (as long as administratively valuable). This retention period is more discretionary and affords departments flexibility in determining how long a record is needed. Administrative Value (AV) means that the record has no fiscal or legal value to the City, and the record may be destroyed when no longer referenced. Although "AV" may be used as a retention period on a department retention schedule, it is in the best interest of any records management program that fixed retention periods be determined based on actual usage for each official records series. "AV" records tend to accumulate and go unmanaged.

C. Final Disposition

Disposition is the final phase in the information life cycle and normally involves two possibilities: destruction or transfer to a records facility for permanent preservation. On some occasions, disposition may also involve transfer of records to a state or federal agency or a local historical society or university for historical reference. The final disposition of a records series is noted on the Records Retention Schedule.

NOTE: It is the department's responsibility to obtain proper authorization prior to proceeding with disposition, i.e., having an approved Records Retention Schedule. Records Management staff cannot provide verbal approval for the disposition of records not inventoried and included on the approved Records Retention Schedules.

Disposition of records should occur routinely in accordance with the provisions of the Records Retention Schedule. If the Schedule states that certain records are to be retained for three years and then destroyed, records review and disposal should occur promptly at the conclusion of the three year retention. This ensures that file space is used efficiently and prevents active records needed for day-to-day operations from becoming interfiled with records that have outlived their administrative usefulness.

Exception for litigation and records subject to audit: If a request for information has been filed encompassing the records under the Public Records Act, the records are involved in current or pending litigation, or are subject to an audit, physical destruction may NOT be carried out until all legal action has concluded. The City Attorney's Office will instruct departments to preserve documents as they relate to pending PRA and litigation cases.

When records maintained in-office become eligible for destruction, contact the Department Records Coordinator prior to any destruction to ensure that proper documentation is completed. While the approved Records Retention Schedule indicates when a record is eligible for destruction, a Destruction Authorization Memo must be completed and sent to the Records Management unit to ensure no outstanding legal or fiscal issues require maintaining the records for an extended period. A Department Destruction Log and file index including the record series, file names/numbers/titles, dates of records, date destroyed, and who destroyed them should also be created. See the Records Management Manual for additional details. Once the destruction is approved, it is appropriate to place the material in the recycling containers unless they require confidential shredding.

D. Off-Site Records Center

The City Clerk Department stores City records in an off-site records center maintained specifically for high-density storage of inactive and permanent records. When records have completed their active office life, and the Retention Schedule indicates storage, the records should be packed in approved storage boxes, inventoried on a Records Transfer List, and sent to the Records Unit for transfer to off-site storage for the remainder of this retention period.

Contact your Department Records Coordinator or Records Management staff in the City Clerk Department for complete instructions on how to prepare and transfer files, including procurement of boxes and transmittal forms.

All inactive City records must be stored within either the City Clerk's offsite Records Center or by an approved commercial storage vendor. Closets, basements, attics, vacant office space, and self-service storage facilities may not be used for record storage.

E. Vital Records Protection

Vital Records are defined as those essential department records needed to meet operational responsibilities under national or regional emergency or disaster conditions. (For Vital Statistic Records, i.e., birth and death certificates, see the Health & Human Services Retention Schedule.)

Disaster means an unexpected occurrence inflicting widespread destruction and distress, having long-term adverse effects on operations, e.g., the 1989 Loma Prieta earthquake and the 1991 Berkeley-Oakland Hills firestorm.

Emergency means a situation or an occurrence of a serious nature, developing suddenly and unexpectedly, and demanding immediate action. This is generally of short duration, for example, an interruption of normal City operations for a week or less due to an electrical transformer failure or minor flooding caused by broken pipes.

Vital records are divided into two categories:

1. Emergency operating records are those vital records essential to the continued functioning or reconstitution of the organization during and after an emergency. Examples include emergency plans and directives, orders of succession, delegations of authority, staffing assignments, selected program records needed to continue the most critical City operations, as well as related policy or procedural records that assist City staff in conducting operations under emergency conditions and for resuming normal operations after an emergency.
2. Legal and financial rights records are those vital records which are essential to the protection of the legal and financial rights of the City and of the individuals directly affected by its activities. Examples of these records include records containing proof of ownership, financial interest (social security, payroll, retirement, insurance, accounts receivable), legal proceeding decisions, contractual obligations, and similar records.

Policy. All departments and offices will work with the Office of Emergency Services and Records Management staff to identify and safeguard those emergency operating, legal and financial rights records necessary for their own essential emergency and recovery functions. Vital records are noted on the Records Retention Schedule.

F. Archival Preservation

Records identified as permanent or historically significant on the Records Retention Schedule, require special handling and preservation techniques to ensure continued accessibility for reference and research. The City Clerk Department regularly evaluates the volume and types of records in this category and makes recommendations for archival storage media, as well as practices and procedures that need to be followed to ensure access to these materials in perpetuity.

IV. Responsibilities

A. Departments

Each department shall:

1. Appoint a Records Coordinator to work with Records Management staff in implementing the Records Management Program. This should be someone who is familiar with the nature and purpose of department records, has some authority to ensure adherence to records policies and procedures, and can recommend retention periods based on actual usage and legal requirements.
2. Assist Records Management staff in conducting and maintaining an inventory of all records created and maintained within the department.

3. Review their Retention Schedule bi-annually, submitting to the City Clerk any suggested revisions to retention periods, and additions or deletions of record series as department functions change.
4. At regular intervals but no less often than once per year, transfer inactive department records to the Records Center in accordance with established procedures and using the Retention Schedule as a guide.
5. Review destruction authorizations for stored records prepared by the Records Management Staff. Records Coordinators and Department Directors should review the list of records eligible for destruction to ensure that none of the records are the subject of an audit or pending litigation.
6. Educate other department staff in proper recordkeeping policies and procedures.

B. City Clerk – Records Management Unit

The City Clerk, as director and administrator of the Records Management Program, shall:

1. Direct the preparation of a citywide records inventory of all departments.
2. Prepare and maintain a Records Retention Schedule based on the findings of the records inventory and discussions with City staff.
3. Assist department Records Coordinators in reviewing and updating department Records Retention Schedules on a periodic basis. Revise policy and procedures as necessary to ensure interdepartmental coordination and cooperation in the creation, maintenance, protection, retention, and disposition of all City records.
4. Approve Retention Schedule and policy revisions that affect transfer of records to the off-site records center.
5. Provide off-site records center storage containers and identification procedures for each box submitted for storage.
6. Submit Records Destruction Authorization Memos to each Department Director for approval to destroy records stored in the off-site records center. Carry out such destruction in accordance with established procedures.
7. Maintain accurate logs and databases of all records stored in the off-site records center. Keep records secure, and provide access to information to researchers upon request.
8. Maintain documentation of all records destroyed in accordance with the Records Retention Schedule, including those records destroyed directly by departments.
9. Educate City staff on principles of records management and industry best practices through regular training meetings for department liaisons. Provide guidance, consultation, and advice as needed.

C. City Attorney

The City Attorney shall review the Records Retention Schedule and all proposed amendments to assure compliance with local, state, and federal legal requirements. The City Attorney shall also review and approve all Records Destruction Authorization Memos to ensure that listed records are not the subject of current or pending litigation.

D. City Council

The City Council shall provide final authority for amendments to the Records Retention Schedule.

V. Records Management Manuals

An updated City Records Retention Manual and Records Transfer Procedures Manual will be issued detailing specific procedures to be followed by all departments concerning records management policies and practices.

VI. Glossary

TERM	DEFINITION
Active Records	Current records needed to carry out a department's day-to-day business; records subject to frequent use (at least once per month).
Archival Preservation	The preservation and continued survival of permanent records (or at least of the information they contain). Basic approaches to preservation include providing a climate controlled storage environment, selective copying, microfilming, and conservation and restoration work on particularly important items.

Inactive Records	Records used less than once a month yet which must still be retained to meet legal, fiscal, or historical requirements. These records may be transferred from the office work area to off-site storage until disposal is appropriate.
Media	Various physical recording materials such as paper, film, tape, or disk. (See Official Record.)
Non-Records	Material is considered a non-record when it is of short-term interest with no documentary or evidentiary value to the organization. Examples include: stocks of publications, reference material, catalogs, duplicate copies of official records, informal notes, telephone messages, and routing slips.

Office of Record	The City department that, by definition of its mission or function, has legal responsibility for an official record.
Official Record	An official record, also called a record or official file, has informational or evidentiary value. It is not defined by physical form. Personal papers must be clearly marked by the employee as such and must at all times be filed separately from official department records. Questions about the separation of personal papers from official documents should be directed to Records Management staff in the City Clerk Department.
Reading File	An unofficial, working file of copies of official records in chronological order; used for quick reference.
Record	See Official Record.
Records Management	The systematic planning, controlling, directing, organizing, training, promoting, and other managerial activities involved with records creation, maintenance, use, and disposition.
Records Series	A group of different records filed together in a unified arrangement that results from, or relates to, the same function or activity and permits evaluation as a unit, e.g., personnel files.

Retention Schedule	A comprehensive list of records series indicating for each series the length of time it is to be maintained in office areas and in storage, and when, and if, such series may be destroyed. A retention schedule summarizes the results of the appraisal of records and makes possible an orderly, efficient retention and disposition of such records.
Subject File	Documents filed by subject matter rather than alphabetically by title or chronologically by date.
