

IN HONOR OF COILLE HOOVEN

- WHEREAS, Coille Hooven is considered to be the first ceramic artist to bring feminism to clay; and
- WHEREAS, she moved to Berkeley in 1970 as a single mother with two young children and just $400 but was determined to be part of the "California Clay Movement"; and
- WHEREAS, she produced hundreds of porcelain functional pieces for studio sales and started two businesses, "Porcelain by Coille" and "Hooven & Hooven Porcelain"; and
- WHEREAS, her porcelain work can be found in The Smithsonian Museum, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, The Los Angeles County Museum of Art & Museum of Arts & Design-New York, and many other fine institutions.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that I, Jesse Arreguin, Mayor of the City of Berkeley, do hereby declare September 25th, 2018 as in the City of Berkeley.

COILLE HOOVEN DAY

Jesse Arreguin
Mayor

September 25, 2018