Manuel Hector Jr., Secretary
Peace and Justice Commission
Several months ago, I raised publicly at a Commission meeting the idea of the Peace and Justice Commission beginning to explore more of the domestic social justice issues effecting people in the City of Berkeley, and most particularly, issues of social justice in education.

A small group of commissioners agreed to meet informally to begin exploring this topic. After a couple of abortive attempts, on May 19, Commissioners Levine, Seaton, Cachola, and I met at my home.

I reported on the activities that I had engaged in over the preceding 6 weeks to gather information for possible Commission action. These activities included meetings with the following people:

- Berkeley Unified School Board Members:
  - Terry Doran,
  - Nancy Riddle,
  - John Selawsky and
  - Joaquin Rivera.

- Julie Sinai, former BUSD staffer and currently the chief education staff member for Tom Bates office.

- Representatives of Californians for Justice (Adrienne Hypolite and Cathy Rion), a social justice organization primarily working on educational access issues, especially relating to the high school exit exam.

- Darryl Moore, Trustee of the Peralta Community College Board representing most of Berkeley.

In each of these meetings, I stressed both that we were in an exploratory phase and that as a joint commission of both the City Council and the School Board there might be a constructive role we might play in advancing social justice in the educational realm. Foremost on everyone’s mind was the question of whether the Peace and Justice Commission could play a constructive role on issues of education at a time when schools are already struggling under the current budget crisis.

More substantively, throughout these meetings, several topics or themes emerged which I will list here, not in order of priority or frequency.
Peace and Justice Commission
Minutes – June 2, 2003

- How to deal with the current budget crisis in a manner that is equitable and does not unduly burden already disadvantaged students.
- Safety and security at schools, the elimination of bullying, the creation of a safe learning environment.
- Student equity/achievement gap issues, especially relating to class and race.
- Serious problems with the high failure rates of the High School exit exam, due to be implemented and made enforceable in the coming academic year (applying to spring 2004 high school graduates).

After my report to our working group on these issues, the group had a lively discussion on the merits of pursuing one or more of these issues AND on what role the commission might play. After reviewing the ordinance establishing the commission, we determined that many issues dealing with social justice and education were within the purview of our work. We also determined that our immediate desire was primarily to assist the City Council and the School Board in handling these issues, not to create more work for them. We also realized that without a staff and without enormous amounts of time, we would need to pick an issue and a method, at least as a first step, which was limited in scope.

With all of these factors in mind, the working group consensed on the topic of the high school exit exam, with an eye towards potentially holding public hearings to gather better information about the way that the exam was affected students, teachers, administrators and budgets.

We have another meeting set for June 23 at 7:00.
CALLING FOR THE PASSAGE OF THE FREEDOM TO READ PROTECTION ACT OF 2003 (H.R. 1157), LEGISLATION WHICH WILL EXEMPT LIBRARIES AND BOOKSTORES FROM THE PROVISIONS OF THE PATRIOT ACT; ADVISE CONGRESSMAN BERNARD SANDERS OF BERKELEY’S POSITION IN SUPPORT OF HIS WORK ON THIS ISSUE AND SEND A COPY OF SAID RESOLUTION TO HIM; AND SEND LETTERS WITH COPIES OF SAID RESOLUTION TO CALIFORNIA’S CONGRESSIONAL REPRESENTATIVES URGING THEM TO SUPPORT AND CO-SPONSOR THE FREEDOM TO READ PROTECTION ACT OF 2003, AND TO CALIFORNIA’S SENATORS URGING THEM TO SUPPORT THE FREEDOM TO READ PROTECTION ACT OF 2003 AND INTRODUCE A SIMILAR BILL IN THE SENATE

WHEREAS, the Peace and Justice Commission is required to advise the Berkeley City Council and Berkeley Unified School District on all matters related to the City’s role in issues of peace and social justice, including, but not limited to issues of ending the arms race, abolishing nuclear weapons, support for human rights and self-determination throughout the world, and the reallocation of our national resources so that money now spent on war is spent on fulfilling human needs and the promotion of peace (Berkeley Municipal Code 3.68.070A); and

WHEREAS, the Berkeley City Council has adopted two resolutions (61,449-N.S. and 61,747-N.S.) specifically objecting to unconstitutional and repressive provisions in the Patriot Act; and

WHEREAS, Section 215 of the Patriot Act appears to be unconstitutional in that it seemingly violates the provision of the Fourth Amendment requiring that searches and seizures be based upon judicial issuance of a search warrant; and

WHEREAS, exercising Section 215 of the Patriot Act against libraries and bookstores not only violates the Fourth Amendment, but also does injury to the First Amendment rights of citizens; and

WHEREAS, on March 3, 2003, Congressman Bernard Sanders of Vermont introduced the Freedom to Read Protection Act of 2003 (H.R. 1157), legislation that would exempt both libraries and bookstores from provisions of the Patriot Act that violate the right to privacy; and

WHEREAS, the passage of such legislation will be a positive step in beginning the repeal of an unconstitutional and repressive law which the City of Berkeley has condemned on no less than three occasions.
NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Council of the City of Berkeley joins in calling for the passage of the Freedom to Read Protection Act of 2003 (H.R. 1157), legislation which will exempt libraries and bookstores from the provisions of the Patriot Act, and takes the following steps:

4. Advise Congressman Bernard Sanders of Berkeley’s position in support of his work on this issue, and send him a copy of this Resolution;
