

Berkeley Tuolumne Camp (BTC)

Update on the Rim Fire damage

Berkeley, California (Friday, November 22, 2013)

Update on post-fire cleanup - The City's specialized contractor is very close to completing the debris removal and they are still scheduled to complete this work by the end of November 2013.

Update on BTC Master Plan process – The City is currently working on the application process to request disaster relief from the California Office of Emergency Services.

Update on summer camp 2014 options – The City has narrowed the field of prospective locations for a temporary full-service camp option for summer 2014 and is currently closing in on the feasibility of these sites with the various owners.
